

Navy CYP Philosophy

CYPs provide high-quality educational and recreational children's programs that respect families' cultures and values. Caring, knowledgeable CYP Professionals plan and facilitate developmentally appropriate offerings that are responsive to the ages, abilities, and interests of all children. CYP Professionals are committed to serving children of all races, ethnicities, and abilities, with an emphasis on respectful, positive interactions that foster each child's development and growing independence. CYPs support Navy children, families, CYP Professionals, and local communities, providing a safe environment for your child to explore and learn.

Whether your child is an infant or a youth in high school, needs care all week or only for an hour after school, is typically developing or has identified needs that require thoughtful accommodations for inclusion — CYPs are ready with trained professionals and outstanding programming to meet the unique child care needs and recreational interests of military families.
